

We will remain positively loud, visible and influential as we continuously inspire the community to support and protect the heroes of biomedical research and discoveries. We will join the strong voices of AFLAS and other laboratory animal associations in Asia to take the lead in recognizing the value of research animals.

SALAS is the sole organization of laboratory animal professionals in Singapore and stands firm on its mission to protect the welfare of research animals and its caretakers.

Driving the campaign for instituting animal welfare, SALAS organizes annual IACUC Training Courses, support and collaborates with government agencies and national committees i.e. Animal and Veterinary Services of NPARKS Board and NACLAR in promoting the policies and program for good animal care and use program.

Since its inception in 2004, the society not only conduct trainings for research scientist, veterinarian and other professionals in the same field but it also celebrates with animal technicians to inspire them and keep their commitment of good husbandry and care to laboratory animals.

On this day 29th of November 2025 and every year, we will join the celebration of Asia Laboratory Animal Day and we will continue giving honour to our past, current and future research animals who have contributed to saving millions of human and animal lives and have reduced suffering worldwide.
